CARING FOR TREES ON ARRIVAL

Bundles should be opened as soon as trees are received and roots be wet or moistened. Generally trees are "heeled in" in trenches if they are not to be planted immediately.

To "heel in" the trees a narrow trench is dug in some moist ground somewhere out of the sun or wind as much as possible. Tree bundles are then set into this trench side by side and soil is pressed firmly around roots. Roots must be kept moist at all times, so soil should be pressed against all of root systems.

Trees can be kept in these trenches until ready to be taken to planting site. A pail with water in it is needed then, and the trees are placed in this unit until taken out to be planted.

WHEN YOUR ORDER ARRIVES

Open bundles carefully and check each item against your order. If you find any shortages, or any thing not in accordance with your order, kindly notify us at once and we will make adjustment.

Our Scotch Pine Christmas Tree Stock is grown from finest seeds available. We have found this variety to have best characteristics as to color, shape and hardiness. We have mature trees of this variety which show superiority over other varieties growing in same plantations.
